DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1 – 8 in the reply filed on 6/27/05 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that the inventions are not subcombinations usable together. This is not found persuasive because Group I includes a -- rotary shaft located in a housing and a coated sensor unit and a circuit board located in the housing, the sensor unit and the circuit board being connected together -- and Group II includes -- a housing with two chambers, a shaft located in a first chamber of a housing, a circuit board located in a second chamber of the housing, a sensor sliding into the first chamber, a passageway connecting the two chambers, and the circuit board being connected to the sensor with a connection part to together from a unit --. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

This application contains claims 9 and 10 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the reply filed 6/27/05. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claims 1 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Abe.

Application/Control Number: 10/765,980 Page 5

Art Unit: 2855

Regarding claims 1, 4 and 5, Abe discloses a rotary sensor comprising a rotary shaft 13, a housing 1 for supporting the rotary shaft, a sensing means 20 retained in the housing that detects the rotation of the rotating member 11 having the rotational shaft 13, a circuit board 22 mounted in the housing and a connection part 19 for connecting the sensor unit and the circuit board, wherein the circuit board is formed of a rectangular configuration from an insulating material (See Col. 6, lines 34 - 35) and the connection part 19 is formed of a lever 17 which is formed of an insulating synthetic material such as PBT (See Col. 5, lines 50 - 55).

Regarding claims 2, 3 and 6 - 8, the rotary sensor includes the housing 1 which is formed of a cup-like configuration of an insulating synthetic resin such as PBT and the circuit board 22, connection part 19 and sensor 20 are integrally connected (See Col. 4, lines 45 - 47).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/14/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's arguments that the reference does not disclose a sensor unit for producing an output corresponding to rotational torque applied to a rotary shaft and a circuit board and connection part coated with synthetic resin, it is the examiner's position that in Abe, the rotation detection means 20 detects the rotation of the rotating member 11 having the rotation shaft 13 (See Col. 4, lines 34 – 44) and the rotation shaft 13 is connected to the lever member 17 of which a torque is imparted due to the torque acting against the elastic force of a coil spring 16 *See Col. 8, lines 29 – 41) and the circuit board is made from an insulating material (See Col. 6, lines 34 – 45), the connection member 19 is formed of the lever member 17 which is formed of an insulating synthetic resin material PBT (See Col. 5, lines 50 – 55) and the housing 1 which encloses and connects the board and connection part is formed of an insulating synthetic resin material (See Col.

4, lines 45 - 47), thus the reference still stands.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
